

México's largest state is called Chihuahua

Guatemala's national bird is called "el quetzal"

El Salvador has 60 volcanoes

Honduras' nickname is "Banana Republic"

Nicaragua has a fresh water lake that has sharks

Costa Rica has more bird species than all of North America

Panamá has a canal that allows boats to cross back and forth between the Pacific and the Atlantic Oceans

Cuba doesn't have poisonous snakes

República Dominicana was the first place Columbus landed

Puerto Rico has a frog called coquí that only sings in Puerto Rico

Venezuela has the highest waterfall in the world—Angel Falls

Colombia was named after Christopher Columbus

Ecuador is named after the equator and one of its traditional food is the cuy, a type of guinea pig.

Perú also eats cuy and uses llamas as a means of transportation

Bolivia has a hotel made of salt and shares Lake Titicaca with Perú

Paraguay shares its electricity with Argentina and Brazil

Chile has the driest desert in the World—Atacama Desert

Argentina has the widest waterfall in the world—Iguazú Falls

Uruguay won the first soccer world cup

España is known for taking a siesta after lunch

Guinea Ecuatorial is a very small country in Africa that speaks Spanish

El mundo

Yo me llamo _____

Océano Ártico

Europa

Asia

Norte
América

Océano
Pacífico

Océano
Atlántico

África

Sudamérica

Océano
Índico

Australia

N

O

E

S

Océano Antártico

Antártica

